

A Gamble Worth Taking

A high-contrast, black and white photograph of a hand dropping several dice. The hand is positioned in the upper left, with fingers spread as if releasing the dice. Below the hand, a trail of dice is visible, suggesting motion. In the foreground, several dice are scattered on a dark, textured surface, some showing different faces. The overall image has a grainy, high-contrast aesthetic.

It's just around the corner!
The time is almost here!
What's all the excitement about?
It's NAPA's 1987 National Business
Conference (NBC) and it's going to be held April 9-12, 1987 in Las Vegas, Nevada — world renowned as a premier entertainment center.