The No. 4 plant of The Claycraft Co. at Columbus, Ohio. This plant produces 25 million red face and acidproof brick a year in circular periodic kilns.

CLAY PRODUCTS BY PRECISION METHODS

Highest quality standards can be maintained in large-scale brick and tile production by the use of modern methods and rigid control of materials and processes. This is being demonstrated by the five Ohio plants of The Claycraft Co., Columbus, Ohio. This company turns out one of the most varied and distinctive lines in the field of structural clay products.

Claycraft makes ceramic glazed brick and tile in a wide assortment of colors and finishes, and several varieties of unglazed face brick. The combined annual capacity of the five units is more than 100 million brick. Acidproof brick, floor brick, and radial chimney lettering brick are also made. These products are shipped all over the United States, and some are exported.

At the head of the company since 1943 is C. Forrest Tefft, Past President and Fellow of The American Ceramic Society. Mr. Tefft was made Secretary of the new Heavy Clay Products Division in 1921 at the time of its organization. He was Chairman of the Division in 1922 and Trustee from 1924 to 1926. He served as Treasurer of The Society from 1936 to 1944, was Vice-President in 1944-45, and President of The Society in 1945-46.

Mr. Tefft came to Claycraft in 1926 as general factory manager. Three years later he became general manager of the company, and from 1936 to 1943 he was vice-president and general manager. He acquired control of the company and was elected president in November, 1943.

Since that time, Mr. Tefft has worked toward the objective of putting the production of brick and tile on a scientific, fully mechanized mass-production basis.

The latest developments in production methods are used, with high standards of quality control.

The aim of Claycraft, as Mr. Tefft often terms it, is "fired artistry"—retaining the standards of skilled craftsmen in mass-produced ware. To insure the technical knowledge needed for this kind of production, Mr. Tefft makes a point of hiring technically trained men for all branches of the company. It is his determination to keep Claycraft products at top quality in the structural clay products field and to employ the necessary technical control to maintain this quality. The company will continue to buy the necessary modern machinery to make this possible. From a mechanical engineering standpoint and from a ceramic engineering standpoint, the proper layout of plants and equipment and the proper organization of men will be provided.

An example of the modernization program at Claycraft is the new tunnel kiln shown on the cover of this issue of The Bulletin. Engineered by Swindell-Dressler, this kiln was completed last winter at the No. 5 plant at Columbus. It is used to fire glazed brick. This kiln was especially designed to provide the uniform temperature distribution necessary for the proper firing of ceramic glazed products. It was engineered for the maximum production of top quality ware. It is one of two tunnel kilns now in production at the Claycraft plants and is similar to two more which will be constructed as soon as present facilities have been dismantled.

Philip W. Tefft, son of the Claycraft owner, is vice-

MEMBERSHIP ROSTER OF THE AMERICAN CERAMIC SOCIETY

The Roster of paid Members is published for the use of the Members of The Society. The list is alphabetical. Corporation Members are in bold-face type, the name of the voting representative following in parentheses; Fellows are preceded by *; Institute of Ceramic Engineers are preceded by †; Charter Life, Life, Honorary, and Student Members are indicated after their respective names.

A separate Roster of the Institute of Ceramic Engineers, showing grades of membership, appears on p. 34, advertising section, this issue.

New members and other changes received too late to be included are listed in the Addenda at the end of this Roster.
