Hi Ryan,

I'm following up on your email to Peter Robertson about speaking with you about Superfund. I know you told Peter to have me call your cell phone, but given how busy you are I didn't want to bug you without first checking on the best time to call.

Thanks again for agreeing to talk to me.

Cliff

That would be great. Will you provide him my cell? [Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy]

Ryan,

I don't like using your personal email, but I don't have an EPA email address for you, and your name isn't included on the EPA staff directory on the web site.

I wanted to introduce you, electronically, to my friend Cliff Rothenstein. Cliff was an EPA career staffer, a staffer on EPW, and also worked as Deputy Assistant Administrator for Solid Waste and Emergency Response (now Land and Emergency Management). Cliff now works at the law firm of K&L Gates. He's one of the smartest people on solid waste issues that exists in Washington.

Cliff wanted to try to connect with you on a Superfund issue he's handling. I told him I thought you were drinking from a firehose at EPA, but that I would send this email. Would appreciate any time you could spend talking to Cliff.

Hope all is as well as can be expected otherwise.

Best,

Peter
