Aurelia-

I wanted to link us up with some Alaskan stakeholders that have some concern with NPS Bulletin 38. Jason is with the Alaska Native Corp Ciri, Deantha is ED of AK Miners Association, and Joe is with Pac Rim coal.

They would like to put a short presentation for you together and do a call or VTC to discuss.

Leisa in my office can coordinate timing when she gets back to the office Monday.

Best,

Steve

Karen,

Is that the name/title of the package that the Commission decided to delay a decision on whether to recommend nominating 109,000 acres of state and private land for listing on the National Register? I want to make sure I understand, because Bulletin 38 appears to me to be a 1998 regulation. Thanks for clarifying.

Karen,

Thank you for the call yesterday. What is the name of the package or property that was submitted?

Hi Aurelia:

It was nice talking with you and I am looking forward to meeting you tomorrow. As promised, here is the email from Paul Loether, NPS, responding to my question about the status of Bulletin 38 and the 60 page Q&A that will accompany the Bulletin. Paul's email suggests the package remains pending (for 8 weeks now) waiting publication in the Federal Register. He anticipates a 90 day public comment period. We think the Bulletin should be reviewed by the current administration before it goes out for public comment. We think the discussion tomorrow will highlight some of the issues that should be addressed in any update to Bulletin 38 it could be used as a means of clarifying and addressing many of the problems if done correctly.

When and how Bulletin 38 is revised, if at all, is important to the situation we discussed in Alaska. There the Alaska Historical Commission decided to delay a decision on whether to recommend nominating 109,000 acres of state and private land for listing on the National Register until it can be considered under the revised Bulletin 38.

I have attached a brief summary of the Bulletin 38 issue, letters from Alaska and Alaska Mental Health Trust objecting to the nomination in Alaska, and contact information for Chip Smith, who will attend the meeting for the Corps.

Call if there is anything else you would like to see

Thank you

Karen

Someone said it would be updated within 60 days but that seems a little off if it hasn't even hit the register yet. Is comment period still at least 60 days

It's heading into its eighth week in the Federal Register Notice (for public comment) approval process. I have no idea how much longer that will take.
