Hey John, I think you are referring to the notice of data availability (NODA) concerning potential reductions in the volume requirements for 2018 renewable fuel and 2019 biomass-based diesel under the renewable fuels standard program, I provided the link below.

Here is also our statement on the NODA, you can attribute this statement to an EPA spokesman.

"EPA is currently seeking input from all stakeholders involved. Nothing has been finalized at this time."

Subject: ethanol

Hi Christie,

I understand there was an announcement today or yesterday regarding ethanol content rules in fuel. However, I am not finding any press release on the topic. Please send me.

Thanks
