Dear Mr. Brown:

I intended to ask you if more copies of Dr. Gardner's report from the Saranac Laboratory might be obtained, or do you know that this article will be printed so it can be made available to the medical fraternity and the legal profession in accordance with the plan discussed at the last meeting we had in your offices.

I raise the question at this time for the reason we have had a number of cases where this report would unquestionably be very useful to us, and just now our attorney who handles such matters for us in Massachusetts would be better equipped if he had had an opportunity to study this report, and likewise the Industrial Board who pass on such matters would likely be more lenient in their decisions if they had the advantage of the information disclosed in this report.

I do not like to let my copy of this report get out of my hands but there are reasons why I would like to have our attorney in Massachusetts read this over, and I am wondering if you would regard that as ethical and could you furnish me another copy? I will be governed by your recommendations and instructions, and will await your further advice.

With best personal regards.

Very truly yours,

GATKE CORPORATION
