WORKS MANAGER'S AWARD

TO ALL EMPLOYEES:

For the fourth time since this system of award was established in 1953 we have reached six months without a lost-time accident, thereby passing a milestone in safety which we call winning the Works Manager's Award. On two previous occasions we have gone on from there to win the President's Award.

Perhaps some of you who came to work here after the award system was established wonder what it is you get when you win the Works Manager's Award. If so, I'm sorry to disappoint you by telling you that you really don't win anything you can eat or wear or spend. It is merely our way of taking note of the fact that you have worked six consecutive months without a disabling injury. If the plant works another six accident-free months you win the President's Award. In that case you actually win a prize; but even so, the important thing then, as now, is the fact that all of us and our families have been spared the unpleasantness or even tragedy of serious injury on the job for a substantial period of time. It is something really worth working for, with or without a prize.

Let's make this No. 3!

Sincerely,

A. T. Raetzsch, Works Manager
