Dear Bob:

I am sure you will be interested in the attached report which is a survey of T.E.L. poisoning during petroleum tank cleaning, published originally in the Japanese Journal of Hygiene and translated by one of our Japanese physicians.

We have edited this translation with the expectation of publishing it in our Medical Bulletin. I would appreciate whatever comments you may have regarding this publication, and would be particularly interested to learn whether you would care to prepare a short article on a group of tank cleaning regulations which we could then also publish in the Medical Bulletin in conjunction with this article.

Will you please return the attached article?

Sincerely yours,

Ralph F. Schneider, M. D.
