Dear Jerry:

As we discussed on the phone, this letter is to provide you with additional information regarding the potential for personnel exposure to ethylene oxide when handling Vista's ALFONIC[®] ethoxylated alcohols. I have attached a statement that Vista distributed to direct customers that I believe will provide you the information you need.

As we discussed, the amount of residual ethylene oxide in the product you receive is anticipated to be less than the amount present at the time of product shipment.

During transportation and handling the small amount of residual ethylene oxide present dissipates to some degree. The amount present in your formulated product should be directly determined to assure accuracy.

Sincerely,

Thomas Grumbles
