there are case reports of individuals who actually did not work around asbestos, but were wives who washed their husbands' clothing that had asbestos on it that developed this rare disease.

There are also cases of individuals who lived near plants, who lived near asbestos plants. Never worked in the plants.

Just lived nearby, and those individuals as a result of that small dose of asbestos developed this rare and terrible cancer.

By a preponderance of the evidence, which is a standard that we have to meet in this case as the plaintiffs, we have the burden of proof in this case. We have to prove our case.

What that standard means is that we have to tip the scales ever so slightly in our favor to meet the burden.

If my hands were a scale and they are evenly weighed, all that we have to do is just tip the scales ever so slightly in our favor.

I contend we will do more than that, but we
