Ford Motor Company Advocates CCAR's "S/P2" Training to Ford and Lincoln-Mercury Dealers

The Coordinating Committee For Automotive Repair's (CCAR) "S/P2" online training in Safety and Pollution Prevention has been promoted to Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers by Ford Motor Company for "use as part of an overall environmental awareness plan."

OVERLAND PARK, KAN. – Ford Motor Company has advocated the Coordinating Committee For Automotive Repair's (CCAR) "S/P2" online training in Safety and Pollution Prevention to Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers across the United States.

"S/P2 is industry-recognized and recommended for dealership use as part of an overall environmental awareness plan," said Al Rocker, Field Operations Manager/ Technical Service Operations, Ford Customer Service Division. "Ford and Lincoln Mercury Dealers are encouraged to participate in the S/P2 training, which can play a valuable role in the important task of safety and environmental stewardship in both the collision repair and service repair departments."

Ford Motor Company, a global automotive industry leader based in Dearborn, Mich., manufactures and distributes automobiles in 200 markets across six continents. With more than 327,000 employees worldwide, Ford's core and affiliated automotive
