Cut down costs by speeding up repair jobs

Time—labor—is the big item on many repair job cost sheets. Materials may represent but a fraction of over-all costs. But, what a whole of a difference materials can make in the figures! Take an item like body solder. It can virtually double or halve the time spent in its use. With solder that melts slowly, works sluggishly, acts stubbornly under the paddle, the mechanic wastes a lot of time. With solder that melts fast, works smoothly, paddles slick and easy, the repair job gets done in jig time. "Dutch Boy" is just that kind of solder. Used with "Dutch Boy" Tinning Compound, "Dutch Boy" solder is cutting costs in repair shops the country over... by shortening the time between tinning and touch-up.
