That's fine! I'm just not good at long speeches – I don't have 30 minutes worth of "speech" material. 10-15 max.

Would you be open to 10 minutes of comments and then say moderated questions from me or Tom Kuhn that you'd have beforehand? And then audience questions? And there is no press. It's a friendly audience generally, but all political stripes are represented so I'd treat it more like an open meeting.

Powering Engagement:

The EEI External Affairs Conference
October 24-25, 2017 | Washington, D.C.

We are happy to announce Samantha Dravis, EPA's Senior Counsel and Associate Administrator for its Office of Policy, as our headline speaker to open Wednesday October 25th, the second day of our conference.

For additional details, please refer to our finalized agenda available here. If you haven't registered for the conference please use the following link. If you're in need of a hotel room please contact Teerah Goodrum at the email below to reserve a space.

Once again, the External Affairs team will host a group dinner on Tuesday, October 24th, immediately following the evening reception. I hope that you will join your industry colleagues at Bar Deco for the evening. We plan to depart from the 4th floor lobby at 6:15pm and walk to Bar Deco; the distance is .5miles. Please RSVP to Teerah at events@eei.org by COB on Monday, October 23.

Safe travels to the Nation's Capital, and we look forward to seeing you soon.

Thank you,

Brad Viator

Brad,

I generally won't do 20-30 minutes of remarks. I am happy to do 10 and then 25 for discussion.

Robin can coordinate timing – thank you!

Samantha,

Here is an agenda with a bit more detail. Let me know what you think and if you'd like to chat through it. But I think this is an opportunity for you guys to talk about your vision in your own words to our entire industry. I know there will be interest from our folks, particularly given recent activity, so I think we allot 20-30 mins of comments from you and 15-20 of discussion.

Thanks.

-Brad
