TO REGIONAL OFFICES

Reference is made to my letter of February 9th on the subject of racing fuels, and in particular to the attachment thereto which listed various grades of aviation fuel that might be used for automobile racing engines.

Casey Jones, who prepared the list of fuels, has called my attention to the fact that the statement that grade 91-98 is the same base stock as grade 100-130 is in error. This fact may not be particularly significant to a large number of people but, in any case, I wish to call the error to your attention in the interests of accuracy.
