Randy
Traffic is crawling and backed up due to accidents. I think we better reschedule. Sorry

Thanks,
Scott

Dear Scott,

I am looking forward to seeing you tomorrow.

As part of preparing for my final evaluations in April, I am going to capture about 30 minutes of our conversation on tape (we can continue after formally “closing the session” as desired).

This will have a lightly different flow and I wanted to let you know how the conversation will be shaped.

As in the past I will “check in” and ask how you are doing—you might at this point reflect on anything you tried since we last visited (e.g. I will be curious to know how you’re pre meeting centering is going and we can take a moment to center ourselves if need be.)

Next I will ask you what you want to focus on—it could be something out of our original list of topics, a follow up issue or something new to that day.

We will work the issue, digging into why it is important to you and how you’re feeling about it.

Towards the end of the 30 minutes I will ask something like “was this conversation helpful to you”, “ what did you learn today” or “what will you take away from this conversation”.

Finally, we will talk about that new awareness and co create practices or things to work on/think on between tomorrow and our next visit.

Hope this roadmap is useful, and thanks again for your time and willingness to work with me.

Randy

Scott,

Hope you had a good week. Would there be a time next week I could come touch base and give you an update?
