Cain Gorfine,

I am writing in response to an email that you sent to EPA's General Counsel, Matthew Leopold, on March 7, 2018. Matt has asked that I respond to you on his behalf.

In response to the specific questions that you asked in your March 7 email, EPA's Office of General Counsel has referred your inquiry to EPA's Office of Chemical Safety and Pollution Prevention (OCSPP). OCSPP focuses on potential risks from pesticides and toxic chemicals. To learn more about their work, you can visit their website: www.epa.gov/aboutepa/about-office-chemical-safety-and-pollution-prevention-ocspp. I have copied a representative from OCSPP on this email. That office will follow up with you further. Thank you very much for your interest in our work at the EPA.
