1954.

Dear Dr. Knox,

Many thanks for your letter of yesterday's date and its enclosures. I am glad to see that you have been able to find the draft of your original letter of 12th April 1953 to Dr. Doll, and this of course confirms what you told me as to the manner in which he was approached.

Dr. Doll's later letter to yourself of 21st May 1953, which you have also sent me, is interesting in so far as it shows the difficulties of arriving at definite conclusions, but it does not of course contain any reference to the basis of collaboration between you and himself. As you know, what I wanted to discover was whether there was any evidence, and if so what, as to the terms and conditions agreed, and the answer seems to be that, as Dr. Doll said (on the first occasion when you met him) that there could be no question of a fee being paid, the whole position was left completely in the air, so to speak.

At the moment I do not think that there is any further information which I need from you, but if I find that there are any points which require elucidation I will get in touch with you.

With kindest regards
Yours faithfully,
