

When Winter Works the Traps

—and its flying feathers instead of bursting clays, the same reliable make of shot-shells that won you a trap championship will fill your game bag. That's U. S.

For geese, brant, and high flying ducks there are the mighty Ajax Heavies. They're "packed with a power of a thunderbolt."

And also—the red jacketed Climax Heavies which give you the well known Climax reliability plus the added advantage of progressive-burning powder.

Then there is the regular Climax itself—being a favorite for all-round shooting and as dependable in the fields as at the traps.

And, bringing up the rear here but way out in the front in popularity, the shell that delivers a whale of a lot of shooting for little money—the Defiance.
