Dear [REDACTED],

On behalf of [REDACTED], I would like to thank you for your message and I am sorry for my belated reply.

I have checked the agenda of my colleagues and unfortunately they are not available next week.

However, they would be happy to have a meeting with you in the following weeks.

We would like to propose you an online meeting on 29 November from 14:00.

Could you please let me know if this date is suitable for you.

Thank you.

With kindest regards,

Subject: meeting with Test & Measurement Coalition

Dear [Redacted],

I hope this finds you well!

I am writing on behalf of the Test & Measurement Coalition, representing represents 60% of the global production of industrial monitoring and control equipment, including chemical analysers, which are essential in the enforcement of and compliance with environmental legislation (detection of chemicals in products etc.). The Test & Measurement Coalition has been actively participating in recent consultations re REACH and CLP revision, prioritisation of lead for inclusion in Annex XIV, essential use concept etc. and have developed specific recommendations on GRA and the derogation mechanism, how essential use can be practically used in sectorial legislation such as RoHS, OSOA and the role of ECHA in prioritising substances and exemption evaluation under RoHS etc.

The members of the Coalition will be in Brussels during the week of 24th Oct and will appreciate the opportunity to meet, present and discuss their recommendations on the above-mentioned topics.

If this is agreeable for you, please kindly let us know when it will be a convenient date and time during the week of 24th Oct. We will be happy to host the meeting at EPPA, 2 place du Luxembourg, or come to the Commission offices, as per your convenience.

Many thanks in advance!

Best regards,

About the Test & Measurement Coalition: The Test & Measurement Coalition includes leading companies in the sector including Agilent Technologies, Fluke Corporation, Keithley Instruments, Keysight Technologies, National Instruments, and Tektronix. Our products include a wide range of sophisticated electronic instruments such as signal generators, logic analysers, oscilloscopes, spectrum analysers, digital multimeters, chemical and biological analysers etc. The instruments are used by laboratories (for research and compliance evaluation), universities (for technical training, education, and research), manufacturers (for product development and manufacturing of their products), and governmental agencies (for conformance verification). They are essential to the good functioning of electronic communications networks, heavy industrial processes such as steel manufacturing, the testing of vehicles for compliance with emissions standards, and the monitoring of complex and critical systems of all types.
