Pastors to Attend Alcoholism Meet at MPC

An all-day seminar on treating alcoholism is scheduled Saturday for pastors of the Monterey Peninsula. Selected laymen from Peninsula churches also may attend the morning session on the Monterey Peninsula College Campus.

The program is co-sponsored by the social science department of the MPC and the Alcoholism Council of the Monterey Peninsula.

Featured speakers at the morning meeting include Rev. Howard Clinebell Jr., associate professor of pastoral counseling at the Southern California School of Theology, Claremont. Howard, who holds a PhD degree, will discuss "The Church and the Hidden Alcoholism."

Also scheduled to address the morning session is Gertrude Behanna, author of "The Late Life," who will tell her personal story.

Dr. William B. Wenner, Peninsula physician, will open the seminar with "The Medical View of Alcoholism."

Following lunch in the MPC Student Union building, the afternoon session, open to pastors only, will break into four seminars at Roseburg, Ore.; Fr. Lawrence Farrel, Rev. Morse Trine, and a panel including Dr. Wenner, an AA member, the board of directors of the National Clergy Conference on Alcoholism; Dr. Robert Goulding, a psychiatrist on the staff of the VA Hospital Center of the Peninsula.
