THE COURT: Overruled.

A He did not tell me that, no, sir.

Q All right, you just assumed.

All right. Doctor, are you telling the jury that the only reason he got mesothelioma is because he may have worked around some Kaylo pipecovering?

A No, sir. It is my opinion that all of the occupational exposures that Mr. Vandergucht had during his working years contributed to the development of his cancer.

All of the exposures with inhaled fibers would have caused cell injury, would have caused genetic damage to the mesothelial cells.

Q I read some of your testimony in the past, and I know that before you testified, you like to review some depositions of co-workers of the decedent, and you like to review as much information as possible before you take the witness stand?

A It depends on the case and what the history is.

I like to review depositions, particularly
