UNION SUPPLY COMPANY

27 Foot Band Saw Used for Resawing Large Timbers

Substantial and conservative—a firm of the "old school" best describes the Union Supply Company—the Peninsula's pioneer lumber dealers. Founded in 1904 by the late Peter Hansen on its present New Monterey site, the business has literally grown up with the community.

Hansen moved to Monterey from Humboldt County where he operated a shingle mill. Charles Colburn, now secretary of the corporation, first joined the organization in 1905. Upon Hansen's death in 1923, his son, H. A. Hansen took over the management as president.

Henry H. Hansen, son of H. A. and grandson of the founder, is now vice-president in charge of sales. Many of the firm's ten employees have been on the rolls for over fourteen years.

Notable changes in the lumber other varieties of woods and, more and building materials trade since recently, the introduction of newly the early days are the shift from developed building materials the preponderance of redwood to through scientific research.
