Attached is his official bio, but if you want a short version, use this:

- Andrew Wheeler was selected by President Trump to become Acting Administrator of EPA starting July 9, 2018.
- He was confirmed by the U.S. Senate as the Deputy Administrator of EPA on April 12.
- Administrator Wheeler has dedicated his career to advancing sound environmental policies.
- He started his career at EPA as a Special Assistant in the Pollution Prevention and Toxics Office where he received three bronze medals.
- After his time at EPA, he moved to Congress where he worked on environmental issues and eventually became Majority Staff Director and Chief Counsel, as well as the Minority Staff Director, of the Senate Committee on Environment and Public Works.
- Throughout his career, he has received bipartisan support and recognition for his work and leadership.
- Administrator Wheeler is an Eagle Scout, and he has climbed Mt. Kilimanjaro.
