Dear Dr. Kehoe:

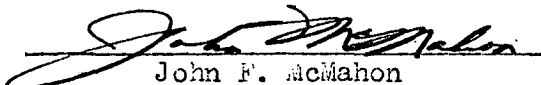

I note from the press that you and Ed Meiter have both been members of technical commissions visiting Germany to study their developments. Accordingly, I am wondering if you and Meiter wouldn't team up to give us a highly interesting report at the Foundation's November meeting on developments in Germany respecting industrial health and hygiene? (Recalling Dr. Sawyer and Bill Yant's European visit early in the war, of course everything depends upon whether the Germans had anything of interest to Americans in this field.)

I also appreciate that the formal commission report are for the use of the Government. On the other hand I know too that some members of these commissions have made talks to groups, so I gather there may be some way of talking without violating the rules.

This letter is just by way of exploring possibilities. I would much appreciate your reaction.

Trusting that all goes well, and with best regards,

Sincerely yours,

John F. McMahon
