earnings, you may not reduce the amount of your award because you believe or infer that the plaintiff has received or will receive reimbursement for or payment of proven medical expenses or lost earnings from persons or entities other than the defendant.

Such as, for example, sick leave paid by the plaintiff's employer or medical expenses paid by the plaintiff's health insurer.

A husband and wife are entitled to be compensated for wrongful damage to their marital relationship.

The damages which justify compensation include the loss of companionship, affection, assistance, and loss or impairment of sexual relations.

Any damages awarded to any plaintiff are not income within the meaning of the federal and Maryland income tax laws, and the plaintiff will not owe or have to pay any income taxes on the amount awarded as damages.

Therefore, you should not add an amount to
