Bass-Hueter

paint will save your steps

The condition of the steps
is the first impression
one gets of your home

But that is the least important reason why you should keep them well painted. It is ECONOMY to paint the steps and porch when they show the first sign of wear.

Wooden steps will last a lifetime when the wear is on the paint and not on the lumber.

There is one paint that stands the wear and the weather—

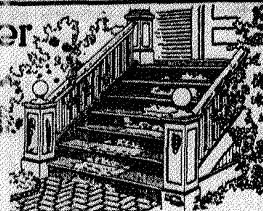

Bass-Hueter Porch and Step Paint

This paint is made on the Pacific Coast for the climate of the Pacific Coast. It is specially prepared to withstand the four months of wet weather and the eight months of sunshine.

It dries hard and elastic—will not crack or peel—and stands the wear of grit and dirt for many months. Comes in six shades.

Take home a can today and go at those steps just as soon as you have a little leisure.

There are many jobs about the house you can do to keep it looking well, but if the work is of any size we will have your employing a painter. But tell him to use Bass-Hueter Paint. It's money in your pocket in the paint you made in fact.
