Ten years ago a girl with her dress above her knees would have created a wild sensation on Market street, or on Powell street either, for that matter.

Women a hundred of them step out into the breeze, with next to nothing on these days, nobody even turns around to look at them.

Why turn? There'll be plenty more on the next block.

You can twist and you can wriggle and you can plot and you can plan, but it all comes back to the good old conclusion before you're through.

Too much—and then nothing at all.

We all think we're so wise and so sophisticated, and all the time somebody or something is back in there somewhere moving us around as if we were wooden checkers on a giant checkerboard.

When something says "laugh" and we all laugh, or "cry" and we all weep, or "fight" and we all fight, we haven't the vaguest idea what it's all about, and we moralize and rave and expostulate and attack and defend, and that's all it amounts to.

Sometime, when somebody writes the history of this age, it will be as plain as print—the hysteria and the madness and the folly and the stupidity and the crass brutality of the whole weird, inexorable, pitiful, helpless business.

But this man Heller—just how much does he realize about what he's doing and how will his experiment work out?

It will be interesting to observe, won't it?

U. S. WILL TRY MONTEREY DRY

Charges against J. W. Clark, Monterey prohibition undercover agent and confessed bootlegger's "middleman," will be prosecuted by Federal authorities here, it was learned yesterday.

Full details of the case, involving allegations that Clark sold liquor in whiniche lots to bootleggers and then "double-crossed" them by tipping them off to Monterey County prohibition officials, will be presented to United States District Attorney George J. Hatfield by Chief of Police W. J. Duddleson of Monterey.

Clark was arrested Saturday in possession of a truckload of liquor, consigned to Monterey bootleggers, which he said he had bought from "a couple of fellows on Turk street." He said he could not recall their names.

Meanwhile Clark, who is said to have admitted his profitable game of bootlegging and slaughter, refused to leave his Monterey jail cell for meals or even appear at the window.

"My customers are probably sore, now that they know I 'double-crossed' them, and they might take a shot at me," he said.

MAKE A PLAN

To insure success in saving, map ut a definite plan and stick to it. It is better to fix upon a certain a-ount to be added regularly to your avings account, than to hope there ill be something left after other ex-enditures.

Here at the Hibernia Bank we com-ute your interest by the calendar ...onth instead of quarterly. In ...aking a plan for saving money, old that in mind.

WHITE LEAD SUBSTITUTES

Why is White Lead paint the standard paint of the United States Government? Why is it specified by architects and engineers, the world over, for important buildings and works?

Because Science has discovered no satisfactory substitute for White lead in paint. No other white pigment has its natural durability and water-resistance.

White Lead paint works out more easily and covers a larger area per gallon—an important saving, for the labor cost of application is often two or three times the cost of the paint.

Lighter coats can be applied with White Lead paint. When properly applied, it will not chip or peel. This means a better surface for repainting, without costly burning off of old paint.

These exclusive advantages make White Lead paint the most inexpensive paint you can buy! Remember—The market price of pure White Lead will not permit its use, in practical quantities, in cheap paint. FULLER'S PURE PREPARED COSTS MORE PER GALLON BUT LESS IN THE LONG RUN!

The best time for painting is now—when the surface is dry. Call a Master Painter today—and specify Fuller's Pure Prepared—the White Lead Paint.
