Angela,
Thanks for the invite but I have a conflict and won't be able to attend.
If there are presentation materials you can share after the meeting, please feel free to send me a copy.
Please send my regards to the lovely Dr. LeHuray!

Regards,
Nancy

Subject: Invitation: Advancing Scientific Integrity in the Federal Government

Hello Nancy, Liz, and Richard,

Please see the invitation below. This is a small by invitation event. If you have some colleagues at EPA who might have an interest, please let me know so I can extend the invitation. Thanks.

-Angela

You are invited to a roundtable and luncheon discussion on:

*Advancing Scientific Integrity in the Federal Government
Existing Tools and Potential Improvements*

Featuring Dr. Anne LeHuray

With a Ph.D. in geochemistry from Florida State University, Dr. LeHuray has received National Science Foundation grants for academic research at Columbia University, as a contractor to EPA and NASA, and as an environmental consultant to the Department of Energy. For the past two decades she has served as a trade association scientist and executive, interfacing with regulatory and non-regulatory government agencies to translate science into policy. She is currently the executive director of two small 501(c)(6) associations: the Naphthalene Council and the Pavement Coatings Technology Council. She is an appointed member of the Great Lakes Water Quality Agreement Annex 10 (Science) Extended Subcommittee and is active in the Science Integrity Subcommittee of the Society of Environmental Toxicology and Chemistry. She is also part of an effort to revitalize the Institute for Regulatory Science.

Date: March 1, 2017

Location: 1310 L Street, NW, #700, Washington DC 20005

Time: 12:00 PM to 1:30 PM

Lunch to be provided.

Please note that this is an invitation-only event and ..RSVPs are required.
