

Austrian Nurses to Head Turk Hospitals

By The Associated Press.
VIENNA, Austria.—As a tribute to the training of nurses in Vienna, the Turkish government has requested the Austrian Red Cross society to send head nurses to take charge of several hospitals in Turkey.

The nurses will be assigned to the children's hospital in Stamboul, the women's hospital in Haseki, the Cerrah Pasha and Adana hospitals, the children's and lying-in hospital in Erzerum and the hospital for the poor in Stamboul. Four head nurses have been chosen for other hospitals.

It is regarded as a compliment that the Turkish government has selected only Austrian trained nurses.

Australia now has nearly 30,000 miles of railway lines.

Previously, without success, the convention endorsed its educational committee's report, pledging support to advancement of popular education and approving the work of the federation's own workers education bureau. It referred to the executive council a resolution favoring establishment of a national trades union college to train labor organizers.

The "merry-go-round camera," a revolving photographic apparatus capable of recording simultaneously with sound, has been put into use by the Paramount studios in Hollywood for Evelyn Brent's starring picture, "Darkened Rooms."
