James - See statement below. Copying Erica Clayton-Wright, our VP of Communications who helped pull this together.

“We appreciate Acting EPA Administrator Andrew Wheeler visiting our region and seeing firsthand industry’s commitment to employing the latest environmental technologies that ensure the safe production of American natural gas. The Marcellus and Utica Shale formations represent enormous opportunity for our nation’s economic and national security, particularly as it relates to rebuilding our domestic manufacturing base for generations to come, and we are deeply committed to environmental sustainability. Acting administrator Wheeler’s agenda – focused on commonsense policies and smart regulations that encourage the responsible natural gas development – will help ensure that the United States continues to emerge as a dominant global energy leader.” – Marcellus Shale Coalition President David Spigelmyer
