A survey of rental housing conditions in San Jose, Calif., will begin next week, the office of the housing expéditer announced.
Data gathered in the survey will be ready for inspection by public officials, the rent advisory board and others in San Jose by Sept. 25.
The survey was requested by a San Jose tenant group.
Rent-control officials said one or two field men will be assigned to gather data on housing vacancies, demand and other factors bearing on the question of how much rents might be increased if rent controls were removed.
