were found internally within Ford's operations were never published?

A I don't know that.

Q They have never been provided to you?

A No.

Q Has Ford, or the other companies we talked about earlier, other vehicle or friction companies, allowed you to take dust samples, or somebody under your supervision in the factories, where their brakes are grounded or remanufactured?

A I never claimed to be. That is for hygienist. I don't see why they come to me, an epidemiologist to supervise that. That would be inappropriate. I would not accept that.

Q Well, you rely on certain industrial hygiene figures for your opinion in this case, do you not?

A All of them, yes.

Q And in your opinion to the hypothetical that Mr. Williams asked you, to both of them, isn't it true that you are assuming that the person -- let me try that again.
