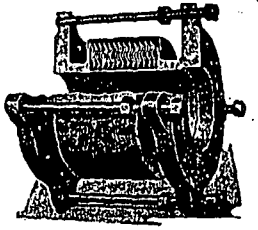
CROLL-REYNOLDS



FLEXODISC EXPANSION JOINTS

Thousands of these joints are in service after many years of operation under severe conditions of pressure, temperature, corrosion, movement and vibration.

Outstanding Features:

Exclusive design provides for absorption of all movement components without stressing bellows material beyond elastic limit, thereby assuring unlimited life.

Flexodisc bellows are made of carbon steel or nickel steel, stainless steel and monel metal, the choice of material being determined by service conditions.

The corrugated plates of the bellows are welded in non-oxidizing atmosphere by means of one of several fusion processes. Resulting welds are remarkably strong.

Controlled heat treatment of completed units assures maximum elastic strength.

Send for Bulletin #31.

Also: Heaters, Condensers and Heat Exchangers.
