RE: [REDACTED]

Dear Sir:

This man has been ill for the past two weeks suffering from complaints which have been diagnosed as due to chronic lead poisoning. I am of the opinion that this is a result of his present occupation.

It would be most unwise for him to continue with this work, as he might become more seriously ill. I would suggest that if possible he be given an outside job similar to those he has had in the past, where his exposure to the aggravating factor is minimal.

Yours very truly,

(sgd.) R.B. MCKENZIE, M.D.
