COVERS for this issue of the Ceramic Bulletin again salute the many ceramic companies and suppliers who offer financial support to the American Ceramic Society.

Corporation members of the Society and advertisers in the Bulletin were invited to add their favorite insignia as a part of what has become an annual tradition. Of the firms invited 326 responded with trademark, company logo, or other design for this variegated flowering of commercial art.

"In our office it has become a sort of game, trying to locate and identify the trademarks," an advertising agency executive chuckled. Below is the list for score keepers:

Membership Roster

Roster is published only for the convenience of members of The American Ceramic Society. Its use as a mailing list is in violation of federal copyright.

These listings give the member's preferred mailing address. Where this is not his business address his company connection is shown in parentheses. Divisions and other Society affiliations are indicated in parentheses following each name, in accordance with the code given at the right. The absence of any such designation indicates that the member is from outside North America or a student member, neither of whom has Division affiliation. Listings are in alphabetical order. New members received too late to be included are listed in the Addenda on page 960. A separate Roster for the National Institute of Ceramic Engineers, showing grades of membership, is on page 961 of this issue.

- B — Basic Science Division
- C — Ceramic-Metal Systems Division
- D — Design Division
- E — Electronics Division
- F — Fellow of the American Ceramic Society
- G — Glass Division
- I — National Institute of Ceramic Engineers, Member Grade
- Ia — National Institute of Ceramic Engineers, Associate Member Grade
- J — Junior Member
- M — Materials & Equipment Division
- N — Nuclear Division
- P — Ceramic Educational Council
- R — Refractories Division
- S — Structural Clay Products Division
- W — White Wares Division
- X — No Division affiliation

RESEARCH FELLOWSHIPS

Since 1877, Corning has relied upon basic science to supply the knowledge required to develop new materials, processes, and products. Its own research laboratory was established in 1908, and ever since, the company has grown largely because of the quality of its research. The present staff embraces a variety of disciplines including biochemists, geologists, and solid-state physicists; investigations delve into the fields of enzymology, biophysics, refractories, semiconductors, and superconductivity, as well as the traditional areas of glass and glass-ceramics.

To augment its basic research effort, the Research Laboratory is instituting five Research Fellowships, each being offered for one year, extendable for one additional year, and tenable in the laboratory in Corning, New York.

This type of research position is new to Corning Glass Works, but it has several advantages to both the Fellow and the company. The Fellow will have the opportunity to follow a line of research of his own choice and be given full opportunity to exercise his creative abilities. The laboratory will benefit by building strong areas of science and technology sensibly related to but different from our present strengths. Both the Fellow and the staff should find stimulation in the additional interdisciplinary opportunities that will be generated. It is an excellent opportunity for excellent scientists.

Inquiries are invited now for scientists who will be available after April 1, 1971. Application will be in the form of a proposal for fundamental research in the areas of: semiconducting, ferroelectric, and magnetic materials; memory and information systems; integrated electronics, cryogenics, and biophysics; surface and interface physics and chemistry; luminescence in solids, synthetic mineralogy, fracture behavior of composite materials, organo-silicate chemistry, and environmental chemistry; protein, biophysical, physiological, and clinical chemistry; immunology, microbiology, and bioactive materials. Selection of candidates will be based on originality and scientific excellence. The deadline for research proposals is December 31.

These Fellowships are intended only for newly graduated PhD's or post-doctoral Fellows; normal starting salary will obtain, adjusted for previous experience, if any.

At the end of the one or two year period, the option will exist either to terminate the contract or to make the Fellow a permanent member of the research staff, depending upon the state of mutual interest at that time.

For specific instructions regarding application, write to Scientific Review Committee, Sullivan Park, Corning Glass Works, Corning, New York 14830. Corning is an equal opportunity employer.

BLACKBIRD CLAY

Established
1848

High iron and manganese kaolinitic clay. Burns dark brown-black at Cone 7. For vitrified floor tile, artware, engobes, and specialties. Controlled, uniform, airfloated.

Available from mill or from Newark, N. J. warehouse stocks.
