Subject: Pydraul A-200 Hydraulic Fluid

Gentlemen:

We have been using your Pydraul A-200 in all of our die casting machines and just recently have had a rash of first aid cases where our set-up men have gotten the Pydraul on their face or in their eyes, as they are mounting hydraulic core cylinders.

Both the doctor and ourselves would greatly appreciate having complete first aid instructions so that we may properly treat these cases and I am wondering whether you have a protected precautionary sheet which we might stick on the control panel of each machine. Any information you can give us would be greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,
