Analysis of Terminated Employees

Attached is an analysis of terminated employees by years of service. You asked me several weeks ago to collect this data. As indicated on the form, the numbers in parentheses represent employees whose work required some exposure to vinyl chloride. Their numbers are also included in the number of terminations for a given year.

For example, Avon Lake General Chemical has ten terminated employees with seven years of service. Of the ten employees, nine had some exposure to vinyl chloride. The tenth person worked in a classification, possibly administrative, that required no vinyl chloride exposure.
