Dear [REDACTED],

Thank you very much for your inquiry.

With submission of our dossier to ECHA on 13 January 2023, responsibility for the dossier and the following process is now within ECHA.

A 6-month consultation on the Annex XV report will most likely start on 22 March 2023. ECHA will also organise an online information session on 5 April, in which the dossier will be presented and it will be explained how stakeholders can best contribute to the consultation.

Any new and/or additional information in relation to the restriction proposal needs to be submitted to ECHA during the consultation phase to be formally taken into account in the process. Therefore, at this point in time, a meeting to discuss your information is not meaningful. I would rather recommend that you submit your information to the consultation as early as possible. It will then be assessed by us as well as by the Committees and we would be able to come back to you if we have any questions or see a need for discussion.

Kind regards,
 for the German CA

Subject: Meeting request to discuss PFAS restriction

Dear [REDACTED],

I am contacting you on behalf of DuPont, a premier multi-industrial company.

Within the EU, DuPont has significant polymer based (non-fluoropolymer) production assets used for health and human life applications.

Ahead of the public consultation on the universal PFAS restriction, DuPont has generated a socio-economic analysis including an analysis of potential substitutes, together with a solid data package which covers mobility, exposure, and risk assessment for two PFAS used in the manufacturing process for these applications.

Beyond the existing risk management, DuPont is actively prioritizing substitution and exploring options for removing PFAS from its manufacturing processes.

We would like to present to you the current generated data and discuss with you this unique case to facilitate the regulatory efforts on the PFAS restriction.

Would it be possible to arrange a face-to-face meeting in the coming weeks? I shall be in contact with your office in the coming days to follow-up on this meeting request.

Kindest regards,
