Dear Dr. Kehoe:-

I have just heard from our reviewers who have been reading the six articles on lead poisoning, which you sent to us for possible publication in the Journal of Industrial Hygiene. I am very glad to write you that we are accepting this symposium, and are publishing it in the February issue of the Journal.

Our reviewer prefers your arrangement of John Buxell's paper to the original one, so we will publish the one which you edited. He feels, however, that the technique for determining lead does not contribute anything new, and I wonder, in the interests of economy, whether we could eliminate that part of it entirely? Would you be good enough to let me know what you think?

In the second paper, by Lester Sanders, the "literature is inadequately covered", our reviewer feels. Do you think that Dr. Sanders could cut out any more of his figures, and still make the paper complete? We must reduce the number of all our figures and charts if possible, as we are running on a limited budget.

Paper no. 5, by W. C. Dreesen, must be re-typed, double-spacing, on heavy type-writing paper, and the first copy sent to me. We have only a carbon copy here, which the Waverly Press will not accept. When this paper is re-typed, will you ask them to type the References in double-spacing also? In other ways, the references, or bibliography, follows our form very well. Do you wish me to return this paper no. 5 to you for re-typing, or have you a copy there which you can use?

I regret the delay in writing you about these papers. In Mr. Drinker's absence, I have to send all manuscripts to our associate editors, and to other reviewers who are kind enough to do it for us. This, however, involves a good deal of delay, which can not be avoided.

Mr. Drinker will be back here for a few days before long, I think, and I will show him the papers and the correspondence, though I know that he will not be able to read through the papers himself.

I shall have to have any corrections or additions within a month, in order to have the symposium ready for publication in the February issue.

Thanking you very much for sending us these papers for publication, I am

Sincerely yours,

P.S. were all these papers presented at the April, 1942 meeting of the American Industrial Hygiene Association? I must have that information for foot-notes on each paper -
