Subject: Benzene Shanghai Study - Cost Allocation and the GO/NO
GO meeting

Just got off the conference call discussing allocation of cost for the Benzene Shanghai study. The latest proposal is a shares arrangement based on US refining capacity and other criteria as listed below.

Based on info shown below and plan forward, I would suggest postponing our mid-Nov video-conference until mid-Dec. What do you think? Or do you still want to do it as a preliminary discussion?

US Refining:

Big	>1.5 million	3 shares (ExxonMobile, BP Amoco xxx)
Medium	.5-1.5	2 shares (that's Shell)
Small	<.5	1 share

Other criteria for shares

Non-US refining:	1 share	US refining companies do not have to add shares for non-production
------------------	---------	--

Upstream only	1 share
---------------	---------

Chemical Co	2 shares	If chemical company inside refinery, do not double count
-------------	----------	--

Government Assoc	Free
------------------	------

Non-Industry Assoc	Negotiated
--------------------	------------

Notes

- $15,000 already paid would be credited.
- No corporate Max
- Capacity based on 2000 Penwell Directory report for facilities owned on Oct 1, 2000.
- Best guessimate for Shell based on these criteria is about $1M.

Plan forward:

- Get Penwell numbers; make adjustments
- Take to full consortium probably early Dec
- Ask for commitment in Jan 2001.

Plan for just one line to call into the teleconference portion.

re: Telephone conference - if you require more than other party I need to know how many lines are required before I book it.

Marilyn and Linda,

It appears that the conference call that you arranged for me on Tuesday, Nov 14, may not work for key participants.

Would you please tentatively set up videoconference with teleconference function for both Nov 13 and Nov 15. Teleconference from 7:30-8:30 and Video 7:30 to 10 Houston time. I will choose one and then ask you to cancel the others. Do not cancel the one for Nov 14 yet.

Thanks. I know I'm a lot of trouble. I really appreciate your help.

Patsy
