Oaklander Dies In Rail Wreck

A fast, 77-car Union Pacific freight train was derailed near Puenta, Los Angeles County, yesterday, killihg an Oaklander and one other man.

The Oakland man was identified as Wallace C. Hansen, 32, of 1835 Alice Street. Friends said he had worked in canneries here until he left several weeks ago to work in a Nevada rock quarry.

The other man killed was identified as Walter David Brigner, 24, of Marion, O. Train officials said both men were transients riding in a gondola car.

The train was traveling 50 miles an hour when a broken wheel on the diesel locomotive unit caused 39 cars to leave the tracks. New automobiles and building materials aboard the train were scattered along the tracks for nearly half a mile.

More than 500 feet of track was torn up, forcing rerouting of passenger trains over Southern Pacific tracks. None of the train crew was injured.

Friends said they believed Hansen had a son living with his grandparents in Omaha, Neb., and four brothers living in Chicago, but did not know their names.
