Subject: Re: Media inquiry regarding Chemours and NC NPDES program

Hi Vaughn, attributable to an EPA spokesperson:

The state has not notified EPA that they intend to suspend or revoke the permit.

Hello, Enesta.

I'm working on a news story with a deadline of 5 p.m. today and I had questions I hope you can answer.

According to the Memorandum of Understanding that allows N.C. to run its NPDES program:

"When the State makes a determination to suspend or revoke a permit, in whole or in part, EPA will be notified."

Has EPA been notified by North Carolina regulators that they intend to suspend or revoke the NPDES permit (NC0003573) held by Chemours for the Fayetteville Works site in North Carolina? If so, when was the notice received? What, if anything, was EPA's response? What were the details of the notification?

Regards,
