Several memos have been buzzing around lately on the subject of what we should be telling our employees -- all triggered by George Roush's comments to Clarence Sweets.

I have the feeling that our respective functions are really not that far apart on a proper corporate effort. With this in mind, I'd like to suggest that the three of us and John Hussey meet sometime during the week of March 23 to hammer out an "agreement in principle" upon which we in Public Relations can launch an appropriate program.

My secretary will identify a mutually convenient time and location for this session and get in on our calendars.

Thanks in advance for your cooperation.
