just conversations with lawyers and co-workers, right?

A Right.

Q You are aware that the brown coat and the white coat and all that plastering stuff, for lack of a better term, that you and Mr. Vandergucht used contained asbestos, didn't it?

A Did I know it then?

Q No. You know it now, don't you?

A I know it now, yeah, at least I am told that it did.

Q That stuff got dusty sometimes, too, when it was mixed, didn't it?

A It sure did.

Q Now, going back to the Northern High School, were there other guys from the plasterers who were also there working with you and Mr. Vandergucht?

Was it just you and Mr. Vandergucht?

A Me and Jean.

Q I didn't know him, so I call him Mr. Vandergucht. Jean.
