SUBJECT PVC WORK PRACTICES

REFERENCE

TO Plant Engineering Personnel

Attached is the first issue of special work practices that will be in force immediately. These practices are a result of recommendations from the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health to B.F. Goodrich and our own concern for the health of our employees.

These interim work rules are aimed at reducing personnel exposure to VCM and PVC; they are not complete nor final and you will see further changes as more is known about the overall problem.

Any questions regarding these procedures should be directed toward your responsible foreman who will have the answer or get an answer back to you.
