COCHRANE WATER CONDITIONING

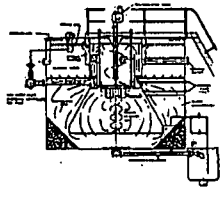

Zeolite Softener

Delivers water of zero hardness by the soap test. Widely used, not only in food water conditioning, but in all industries where scale forming or soap consuming properties of water are objectionable. All commonly known zeolite minerals, such as high and low exchange Greensand types, can be furnished, as well as the Carbonaceous synthetic types, either with sodium or acid regeneration. Greensand Zeolite Publ. 4343; Carbonaceous Zeolite Publ. 4021.

Rapid Reactor

Combining the basic elements of equipment for mixing, floc formation, settling and thickening in a single reaction vessel, the Cochrane Rapid Reactor permits chemical reactions and separation of coagulated solids in only a fraction of the time necessary in intermittent cold process softeners. When the chemicals are added to incoming water, recirculated sludge seeds the precipitation and accelerates the chemical reactions.

Directory of Former Manufacturers

An alphabetical list of companies taken over, absorbed, or merged—for the convenience of buyers seeking new units or replacement parts

● To help you locate the company now manufacturing equipment previously made by an organization no longer producing under its own name, POWER has prepared a listing of power-equipment manufacturers who have been purchased or absorbed by other companies.

HOW TO USE: Look for the company name, shown on the nameplate of your equipment, in this alphabetical index. Directly following this listing is the name and address of the company now manufacturing this equipment. For example: If the nameplate on your steam engine says Chuse Engine Company, look under "Name of Company Absorbed" for Chuse Engine Company. Then, under the name Chuse Engine Company, you will find that Elliott Company in Jeannette, Pennsylvania now owns this company, that the engine is no longer made, but that replacements and parts are still available.
